

Pinal County embarrassed (at least, they should be) featured on the WALL STREET JOURNAL WEBSITE in a Reason TV video hosted by Drew Carey. Watch the video. Note at the end that Pinal County officials have refused to comment on the case or the video. A link to the video is below.

One of the items that I mention in talking with Pinal County Taxpayers, when addressing why spending is so high, is the "sad-case" being spearheaded by Pinal County Supervisor of District # 2 Sandie Smith to stop outside dancing at San Tan Flats in Pinal County. It is estimated that, to date, Pinal County has spent well in excess of $200,000 on outside legal fees to pursue this miscarriage of justice. Mr. Bell is represented by the National Institute of Justice Legal Organization (famous in AZ for the Randy Bailey Brake Shop case in Mesa).

The primary question; Why spend money on a no-issue item? Pinal County has already announced a TEN MILLION DOLLAR BUDGET SHORTFALL and extreme 2008 property valuation increase by Mr. Paul Larkin's Office (Larkin is the Pinal County Assessor). Regardless of your political party preference, the buffoons that operate Pinal County must be stopped. For additional information on many of their ridiculous decisions, visit our website. As of matter of full disclosure I (with my wife) have met with Dale Bell, proprietor of San Tan Flats. We thoroughly enjoyed the pleasant atmosphere and food. When you are standing directly outside the door of San Tan Flats it is virtually impossible to hear the music performed by Lee Alexander. There is a high double wall surrounding the establishment. The only environmental item making it "outside" is there is a portion of the facility that does not have a roof.

From The Institute Of Justice - The Institute for Justice Arizona Chapter is starting 2008 strong with an excellent video commentary on our San Tan Flat case released today by Reason.TV and the Drew Carey Project. Pinal County, Arizona, is abusing its power and harassing local entrepreneur Dale Bell who opened a steakhouse and saloon in Pinal County in 2005. Little did he know doing so would earn him the County's ire: the county has taken the absurd position that allowing his customers to dance outdoors transforms the restaurant into a dance hall in violation of zoning ordinances.

Thank You for your ongoing interest in and support for the Institute's work on behalf of individual rights, and Happy 2008!
